The man who takes no pride in his ancestors is not likely to have his descendants take any pride in him.

To all the present and future generations of especially to all the writer's relatives, this Genealogy of the family is affectionately dedicated,

as a matter of pleasure and duty, with the hope that some one of them will continue the work as conditions require; that none of them will ever commit an act that might cause a blush of shame on the face of any member of the family, or that they would not willingly see published with their names by future writers of the family history.

INTRODUCTION.

The work of preparing this book has been done during the idle moments of the writer, while resting from his regular work, and has, therefore, been a pastime, as well as a pleasure. The preparation of private records, in that more endurable form which printing alone can assure, is a laudable object, and worthy of approval. It has also been a work of love, in which this Scripture injunction has been heeded: "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations; ask thy father and he will shew thee, thy elders and they will tell thee" (Deuteronomy xxxii. 7).

It is natural for all persons of intelligence to desire knowledge of their ancestors, and to speculate as to what their posterity will be to future history. While this is not a complete history of the Lower family in America, or possibly not of any one branch of it, the compiler has striven to have every record verified, and believes, therefore, it is as accurate, if not as complete, as is possible to attain under existing circumstances. It is with regret that the work must be presented in its imperfect condition, and the author will ask that any error or omission noticed by any reader be at once referred to him, giving the correct history and genealogy, which will be carefully filed away for the use of future writers of the family history and in the revision of this work.

We know there are some errors and many omissions, as our information in many instances has been secured from church records and gravestones, which are not always correct. In other instances we have had to depend upon some member of the family furnishing the information desired, and where they could not or would not furnish it, we were compelled to omit that portion, with the hopes that some other member will supply the desired information, to be used by future writers of the family history or in the revision of this work.

However, we are pleased to state that but few of the kinsmen with whom we have corresponded and asked for information have neglected or refused to furnish it, and to many of them we are deeply indebted for the accurate history, genealogies and biographies herein contained. To belong to a family who for generations have earned respect, to be able to look back to forefathers who lived well and did their life's work bravely, doing their best to uphold the right in domestic and national affairs, is a birthright of which any one may well be proud. Intelligence, honesty and courage — qualities which make for good in every country — have ever been characteristic of those who bear our name. May it so continue.

THE AUTHOR.

HISTORY AND GENEALOGY
— OF —
ADAM LOWER AND HIS POSTERITY.

ADAM LOWER lived most of his life in Williamsburg, Blair County, Pa. This town was in Huntingdon County in his day. He died there at the age of seventy-eight, and was buried in the cemetery by the old stone church, which was either Lutheran or German Reform. His wife, Elizabeth, died before him, and he married the second time. In this history we designate the line by the use of the word generation, beginning with ADAM LOWER.

FIRST GENERATION.

ADAM LOWER was born in Germany, Württemberg, in A. D. 1755. He and a sister lived with their grandfather. His mother died when he was young. Of this family we have but a meager traditionary history, but family tradition has it that his father was a Major in the German army, and in an engagement during the Seven Years' War, in which his command was practically annihilated, he swam the river Rhine, and upon reaching the opposite shore found several bullets lodged in his helmet. It is also understood he was killed in an engagement during that war, though we have no record as to place or date.

Adam Lower's grandfather was very wealthy, and gained his wealth in this way: The cholera in a city in Germany (Württemberg) caused the living to flee, and he received an enormous fortune for clearing the city of its dead. For some reason, when a young man Adam ran away from his grandfather's home and came to America. He had only money enough to pay part of his ship fare, and when he landed in America was sold in bondage to pay the balance of the fare. He had to serve eight years in bondage to satisfy the debt.

When the Revolutionary War broke out he secured his freedom by enlisting in the Continental army, which was in accordance with a law passed by the Continental Congress, giving freedom to all white persons, then serving in bondage, who would enlist in the Continental army.

We find the following Revolutionary record of Adam Lower in the Pennsylvania Archives, Vol. III:

A Muster Roll of Captain William Heyser's Company, of the German Regiment commanded by Baron Arendt, Colonel.
Quibble Town, May 22, 1777.

Captain,

WILLIAM HEYSER, July 12, 1776.

Privates,

Among whom is ADAM LOWER.

The first record of settlement was in Maxatawney Township, Berks County, Pa. The following is the Certificate of Naturalization:

Berks County, }
Pennsylvania. } ss.

I do hereby certify that Adam Lauer, of Maxatawney Township, hath voluntarily taken the oath of allegiance and fidelity, as directed by an act of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, passed the 13th day of June, A. D. 1777.

Witness my hand and seal the 18th day of July, A. D. 1778.

SAMUEL ELY (L. S.).

In his naturalization papers the name is spelled Lauer, which is the correct spelling, according to the German, but later the spelling was changed to Lower, which spelling has been used by all his children.

According to date he would have been about twenty-three years of age at the time of taking the oath of allegiance to the United States of America. We have no definite date of his marriage, but, considering the date of his wife's death, June 17, 1806, at the age of forty-nine, and the fact that eleven children were born, possibly two years apart, we can approximate the date of marriage. Allowing twenty-two or twenty-four years for the births of the children, and subtracting that number from her age, would make her about twenty-five and Adam Lower about twenty-seven at their marriage. His wife's maiden name was Elizabeth Keiser. She was born on board a ship en route from Germany to America, A. D. 1757. The record on her tombstone in Williamsburg, Pa., is Elisabetha Lauer.

We have no record of Adam Lower's removal from Berks County, Pa., to Williamsburg, Pa., then in Huntingdon County, now Blair County. Adam Lower bought land near Williamsburg for farms, and also lots in town. Many of his children married in and near Williamsburg and remained there for many years. He was a weaver by trade, and had a loom in his log house at the foot of the hill below the Methodist Church, in Williamsburg.

It is said that Adam Lower gave a man named Ulric a power of attorney to go to Germany and collect the estate of his grandfather. The man went, and was supposed to have obtained the estate, but never returned, nor made a settlement with Adam Lower. This was a source of trouble to Adam, fearing that his sister had been robbed of her share of the estate. He never heard from his sister.

Adam Lower married a second wife, named Nancy Diggins, who had a son named John Diggins. The author can just remember this grandmother. I was born in 1829 and grandfather died April 16, 1833.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF ADAM LOWER.

In the name of God, Amen. I, Adam Lower, of the Borough of Williamsburg, in the County of Huntingdon, and State of Pennsylvania, being weak in body, but of sound mind, memory and understanding, and considering the uncertainty of this transitory life, do make and publish this, my last will and testament, and revoking all former wills by me made.

I do order and direct that all my just debts and funeral expenses be duly paid and satisfied, out of my personal estate, as soon as conveniently can be after my decease.

Item the first:

I give and bequeath to my wife Nancy all that messuage and tract of land which I purchased from Daniel Clapper, situate and lying in Frankstown Township, in the county of said adjoining lands of Daniel Clapper, Williams Rhodes and others, together with all my personal property that I now possess, during her natural life, provided she should survive me.

Also the one-fourth of the income of the land occupied by my sons George and Daniel, yearly, with the one-half of all the fruit of the orchard, in the tenure of my son Daniel. Also the interest of a note I hold against John Lower, to amount of sixty ($60.00) dollars, is to be paid yearly.

Also the yearly interest of two several notes I hold against Henry Lower, one of one hundred dollars, and the other of twenty-five dollars, for and during her natural life. And after her decease my will is that all the described property, both real and personal and mixed, or any more that I may possess, shall be sold by my executor, with full power to convey the same to the purchasers, and the proceeds thereof shall be equally divided between all my children, share and share alike.

And it is further my will that the articles of agreement made between me and my sons, George and Daniel, are to be fulfilled to my wife, Nancy, during her natural life in the same manner and in the same proportion as they were made payable to me.

And lastly, I nominate, constitute and appoint David Ake to be the executor of this, my last will and testament.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this the fourth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-three.

Signed and sealed by the testator, as his last will and testament, in the presence of us.

GEORGE DAVIS.

Huntingdon County, Penn., ss.

I, David R. Porter, Register for the Probate of Wills, and granting letters of administration, in and for said County of Huntingdon, do certify that the above and foregoing is a true copy of the last will and testament of Adam Lower, deceased, with the probate thereon taken, duly registered, and remaining on file in the Register's office of said county. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal of the said office at Huntingdon the 29th day of April, 1833.

SECOND GENERATION.

Children of Adam and Elizabeth (Keiser) Lower.

George, Jacob, Adam, Henry, Daniel, John, David, Catherine (Mrs. Clapper), Elizabeth (Mrs. Wiltout), Sarah (Mrs. Yarger), and Mary (called Polley). George was the oldest and David the youngest of the children.

GEORGE LOWER, of Adam and Elizabeth (Keiser) Lower, born in 1782, died May 8, 1859. Mary Lower, his wife, born in 1784, died February 15, 1850. They were Lutherans, and are buried in the Lutheran Cemetery in Williamsburg, Pa. Their home was on a farm about a mile south of the town.

THIRD GENERATION.

SAMUEL LOWER, of George and Mary Lower, was married, and lived many years on a small farm near his father. They had some children. One daughter married John Alley, of Williamsburg. Samuel moved to Indiana, Indiana County, Pa. About this time his wife died, and he married the second time, and to this union were born three children. He died in 1884, and was buried in the Rush Valley Lutheran Cemetery. We have no family record of theirs, and therefore can not give much information as to the children. One son of the first marriage moved to Washington in 1899. One son of the second marriage was living with his mother in Indiana, Pa., in 1899; his name is M. L.

Lower. At that time the mother was stricken with paralysis. Here ends Samuel's history.

ADAM LOWER, of George and Mary Lower, married Catherine Tomas. To them were born six children, as follows: Elizabeth, George W., Margaret, Anna Delila, Rossanna, and William H. The mother, Catherine (Tomas) Lower, died in 1853, in Indiana County, Pa., where the family were raised on a small farm. Adam was married a second time, this time to Mrs. Catherine Grimes. To this union were born two sons, Martin and David, who both live in Indiana, Indiana County, Pa. (1912). Adam was a forgerman by trade, and worked for many years in a forge near Williamsburg, Pa. He died in January, 1893.

FOURTH GENERATION.

ELIZABETH LOWER, of Adam and Catherine (Tomas) Lower, married Stephen Rand, and lives at Penn Run, Indiana County, Pa. They have no children.

GEORGE W. LOWER, of Adam and Catherine (Tomas) Lower, married Elizabeth Greaser. They had six children, of whom three are living. They live at Royer, Blair County, Pa. He served three years in the Civil War (Eighty-fourth Pennsylvania).

MARGARET LOWER, of Adam and Catherine (Tomas) Lower, married Andrew Dettviler in 1865. She died in 1872, being survived by her husband, two daughters and one son. The son died a few years after his mother.

ANNA DELILA LOWER, of Adam and Catherine (Tomas) Lower, married John McClaren. To them were born seven children. He died in 1899. She lives in Indiana, Indiana County, Pa.

ROSSANNA LOWER, of Adam and Catherine (Tomas) Lower, married John Isenberg. To them were born ten children. They live in Indiana, Indiana County, Pa.

WILLIAM H. LOWER, of Adam and Catherine (Tomas) Lower, born December 2, 1846; married, January 8, 1874, to Anna Elizabeth Snively, who was born December 31, 1850. To this union was born seven children, as follows: David Franklin, Clara C., Ira Oscar, Hannah S., Barbara Ruth, William R., and Mary Edith. William H. is the present owner of the old David Lower homestead on Piney Creek, south of Williamsburg, Pa.; it being one of the several farms near Williamsburg formerly owned by his great-grandfather, Adam Lower. He resides at Williamsburg, Pa.

FIFTH GENERATION.

DAVID FRANKLIN LOWER, of William H. and Anna E. (Snively) Lower, born December 14, 1875; married Hannah Showalter. They have three children, as follows: Ethel Irene, aged fourteen years; Anna Ruth, aged seven years, and Willis Leroy, aged five years. Their present home is near Williamsburg, Blair County, Pa.

CLARA C. LOWER, of William H. and Anna E. (Snively) Lower, born December 2, 1877; married Norman Stultz. They have four children, as follows: Wilmer L., aged twelve years; Samuel Elwood, aged nine years; Frances May, aged four years; Mable C., aged two years. Their present home is near Williamsburg, Blair County, Pa.

IRA OSCAR LOWER, of William H. and Anna E. (Snively) Lower, born June 2, 1880; unmarried. His present home is four miles south of Williamsburg, Pa.

HANNAH S. LOWER, of William H. and Anna E. (Snively) Lower, born September 4, 1881; unmarried. Present address, Williamsburg, Blair County, Pa.

BARBARA RUTH LOWER, of William H. and Anna E. (Snively) Lower, born July 28, 1883; married Archibald Gunnett. They have no children. They reside near Williamsburg, Blair County, Pa.

WILLIAM R. LOWER, of William H. and Anna E. (Snively) Lower, born May 19, 1885; married Bertha Brumbaugh. They have two children, Kathleen, aged four years, and Martha E., aged two years (1912). Their present address is, "Rose Lawn," Eldorado, Blair County, Pa.

MARY EDITH LOWER, of William H. and Anna E. (Snively) Lower, born December 21, 1887; unmarried. Present address, Williamsburg, Pa.

THIRD GENERATION.

PAUL LOWER, of George and Mary Lower, married, and lived near his father for some years. They had a few children, and later moved to Indiana, Indiana County, Pa., where he died in 1893. We have no record of the family.

WILLIAM LOWER, of George and Mary Lower, married Elizabeth Snively in Morrison Cove, Pa., near Williamsburg. They lived on a farm. They had two children, a son, David, and daughter, Elizabeth. David married and had five children, three sons and two daughters. Elizabeth married and had one son. William died March 15, 1868, aged forty years, six months and twenty-six days. Elizabeth Lower, his wife, died September 5, 1887, aged sixty-five years, ten months and five days. They are buried in the Lutheran Cemetery in Williamsburg, Pa.

THIRD GENERATION.

CATHERINE LOWER, of George and Mary Lower, married Robert Maxwell, a plasterer by trade. They lived in Williamsburg. They had some children. One daughter, Mary Margaret, married Ezra Brisban. He enlisted in the Union army and never returned home, but we have no record of his death. In 1899 she was living in West Philadelphia, at 6343 Saybrook Avenue. Another daughter, Kate Onor, lived in Strongstown, Indiana County, Pa., in 1899. We have no family record, and therefore our information is limited. Mrs. Catherine (Lower) Maxwell died of cancer of the breast. They attended the Lutheran Church.

THIRD GENERATION.

EVE LOWER, of George and Mary Lower, married George Eiholtz at the age of seventeen. They lived near his father's on Piney Creek, about two miles from Williamsburg, on a farm, for many years. God gave them eight children, three sons and five daughters. One of the sons died two years before his father, who died in 1855, aged fifty-four years. In 1864 the family moved to near Frankstown, Blair County, Pa. She became a Christian at an early age and united with the Lutheran Church at Williamsburg. She lived an earnest Christian life, and died in the triumph of a living faith at her home, after having bidden farewell and given good advice to her seven children and five grandchildren, who gathered around her bed. She was fifty-nine years, seven months and twenty-seven days of age at that time. July 15, 1876, her children were all living, and so far as we know at this writing they may still be living. Her children were all members of the Lutheran Church.

FOURTH GENERATION.

CHARLES EIHOLTZ, of Eve (Lower) Eiholtz and George Eiholtz, married Henrietta Lindsey. They had three daughters and two sons. He enlisted in the Ninety-second Illinois Infantry, and after the close of the Civil War settled in Geeseytown, Pa. The last record we have of him he had lost his wife and his sister, Charlotte Ann, was keeping house for him in Geeseytown, Pa.

GEORGE EIHOLTZ, of Eve (Lower) and George Eiholtz, married Ellen Loudon. They had five children. One little boy, named Dean Lower, died.

HENRY SNIDER EIHOLTZ, of Eve (Lower) and George Eiholtz, was buried in Williamsburg, but all the others were buried in the Geeseytown Cemetery. We can not trace this record farther in this brief history.

THIRD GENERATION.

SUSAN LOWER, of George and Mary Lower, married William Speelman, but no record for information. In 1899 she was living near her brothers in Indiana, Indiana County, Pa. We understand the records of George and Mary Lower were sent to Paul Lower's children, but we have not access to them for further information. Here we leave their history.

SECOND GENERATION.

ADAM LOWER, of Adam and Elizabeth Lower. In an early day he moved to Sandyville, O., married, and had a large family. We have no record of the family, so can give but little history of them. We understand they also lived at Bristol, O., but letters addressed to his descendants at both Bristol and Sandyville, O., have been returned to the writer, which would indicate that none of the descendants live at either address. He had one son, named George Lower, which is the only name the writer has been able to learn of. Should this history reach any of his descendants, they will know why their history has been omitted, and will confer a favor upon the author by putting him in communication with some of the family.

SECOND GENERATION.

JACOB LOWER, of Adam and Elizabeth Lower. Of Jacob Lower but little is known, except that he went West when a young man, possibly to Ohio or Indiana, and was never heard of thereafter by any of the family, and his name has gone down in the family tradition as the "lost brother." There is such a similarity of names and locations as to almost warrant the belief that the Lower brothers of Hot Springs, Ark., whose history and genealogy is appended hereto, are among his descendants.

SECOND GENERATION.

HENRY LOWER, of Adam and Elizabeth Lower, was born September 18, 1794. His wife's name was Hannah Steele. She was born August 17, 1794. They were married June 19, 1817, at Williamsburg, Pa. To them ten children were born: Jane Elizabeth, Henry Steele, Agabella, David H., John, William, Jesse, Martha Ann, Leah, and Hannah Mary. Agabella died March 4, 1828, and William died July 13, 1829. Henry Lower was a tailor by trade, and worked at his trade for many years in Williamsburg, Pa., where all the children were born. Then he moved to Stone Creek, in Huntingdon County, Pa., on a farm, then later in life he moved to Davenport, Iowa, and the last years of their lives they lived at Jefferson, Iowa. He died first, and was buried at Jefferson. His wife died at the age of about ninety years, and was buried at Jefferson, Iowa. They were Presbyterians.

THIRD GENERATION.

JANE ELIZABETH, of Henry and Hannah Lower, was born April 18, 1818, and married William Wray February 15, 1838. He was born November 24, 1815. William Wray was a blacksmith by trade, and worked at it for many years, but the latter part of his life they lived on a farm near Spruce Creek, Huntingdon County, Pa. There she died May 19, 1887. He died June 3, 1891. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church of Birmingham, where they attended church and the children were brought up.

FOURTH GENERATION.

Children of Jane Elizabeth (Lower) Wray and William Wray.

Regina Maria Wray was born February 19, 1839.

Jane Ann Wray was born April 6, 1841.

David Lower Wray was born January 12, 1843.

Hannah Mary Wray was born July 19, 1845.

Alvenia Martha Wray was born March 7, 1848.

Adah Kate Wray was born July 22, 1850.

James Henry Wray was born March 4, 1853.

William Porter Wray was born July 8, 1855.

George Hamilton Wray was born January 8, 1858.

Warren Burton Wray was born December 4, 1860.

REGINA MARIA WRAY married James Porter Hazlett December 28, 1865. Their children are: Harry F., Lizzie W., William F., and Margaret M. Mr. Hazlett and son, William, are dead. Mrs. Regina M. Hazlett lives in Altoona, Pa. (1912).

FIFTH GENERATION.

HARRY F. HAZLETT, of Regina M. and James P. Hazlett, lives in Pueblo, Col., and is a practicing physician.

FOURTH GENERATION.

JANE ANN WRAY married S. E. Stewart December 26, 1867. Their children are: William W., R. Edward, James L., Bessie W., and Edith B.

DAVID LOWER WRAY married Caroline Wallace May 16, 1867. Their children are: Gertrude W., Elizabeth E., Hannah C., James Clement, Ethel R., Robert W., Catherine, and Charles. Charles is dead.

HANNAH MARY WRAY married William H. Wallace December 22, 1870. Their children are: Charles L. and Jennie E.

WILLIAM PORTER WRAY married Lizzie Bromley October 26, 1881. Their children are: William E., Vincent, and Mary.

GEORGE HAMILTON WRAY married Anna B. Laferty September 25, 1883. Their children are: Lee P., Elda L., Chester B., and Fred C.

JAMES HENRY WRAY married Kate Giberson November 6, 1879. Their children are: Edna E. and Lucile. James H. Wray was a physician, and lived in Winterset, Iowa, from 1877 until his death, November 11, 1896.

ALVENIA MARTHA WRAY married William R. Moore January 9, 1873. Their children are: Jennie E., J. Lee (dead), Helen W., William W., and Walter E.

In 1899 David Lower Wray was at home in Beltwood, Blair County, Pa. He had been sight-seeing in Cuba.

THIRD GENERATION.

HENRY STEELE LOWER, of Henry and Hannah Lower, born January 18, 1820; married Mary Hileman in 1846. She was born October 1, 1816. Their children are:

Clarissa, born April 24, 1847.

Annetta, born September 25, 1849.

James B., born March 21, 1851.

Richard S., born March 15, 1854.

Kate, born March 15, 1856.

Charles D., born August 5, 1857.

Marriages of the Children.

Clarissa married J. R. Holmes in Chicago in 1890.

James B. married Florida Culter September 8, 1875.

Richard S. married Jessie Beard in September, 1893, and lives in Scranton, Iowa.

Kate married George W. Brook in 1877. He died in 1892, leaving his widow and four children, who reside in Jefferson, Iowa.

Charles D. married Cynthia Ball in 1895.

Henry Steele Lower first learned the tailor trade with his father, and afterward learned blacksmithing. His wife, Mary, was a Presbyterian when they lived in Williamsburg, Pa., many years before they moved to Iowa, where he died April 7, 1892.

DAVID H. LOWER, of Henry and Hannah Lower, born at Williamsburg, Pa., January 20, 1823, died at Devizes, Norton County, Kan., March 31, 1900. He married Susannah Carbaugh February 20, 1845. She was born March 4, 1826, and died at Kinsley, Edwards County, Kan., March 28, 1899. They had lived together fifty-four years, and were buried together in the Kinsley Cemetery, at Kinsley, Kan. David H. was a carpenter by trade, which trade he followed for many years at Hunting, Pa. About the year 1850 he, with his wife and small children, embarked for the West, locating in Scott County, Iowa, then a pioneer country. In 1867 they left Scott County, Iowa, overland, for Kansas, but when reaching Grundy County, Mo., decided to return to Iowa. At Newton, Jasper County, he secured work, where they remained but a short time, when they moved to a farm near Mechanicsville, and in November of the same year returned to Scott County, where he purchased a small farm of forty acres. Here the family lived until 1870, when he traded the farm for land in Poweskiek County, near Brooklyn, Iowa. Here they remained until 1877, when they again started overland for Kansas, and located on a farm near Clyde, Kan., in Cloud County. Here they farmed for two years, when they moved overland to Norton County, Kan., and took a homestead eleven miles northwest of Norton, Kan. Here they remained three years, or until 1882, during which was a period of crop failure and hard times throughout that section of the country, when they again loaded their wagons and started overland across the plains of Western Kansas for Greeley, Col., to see what fortune would offer them. This was at a time when the plains of Western Kansas were looked upon as a land of romance, and when strange tales of Indians, buffaloes and exciting adventures were being told back in the more conservative East. For three days' drive across those wide, level prairies they saw but three persons, being two cowboys and a Mexican, whom they were pleased to meet. During those three days' drive they were compelled to carry water in their wagons for their horses. In July, 1883, they again started for Kansas by wagon, this time driving down the Platte River, and located at Cawker City, Kan., in Mitchell County, where they lived until September, 1886, when they moved to Phillipsburg, Kan. In August, 1889, they moved to Licking, Texas County, Mo., where they lived but one year, when they were glad to leave the Ozarks, and again started for Kansas, but stopping at Deepwater, Mo., until April, 1891, when they moved to Pawnee County, Kan. Here Mrs. Lower died March 28, 1899, when David H. went to live with a daughter, Mrs. Jennie A. Railsbach, near Devizes, Norton County, Kan., where he died the following March. Their children are as follows: Clara M., Jennie A., Claretta M., Inez R., Franklin P., Edgar C., John Delmer, Ida M., Lula M., D. Harry, and Willie.

FOURTH GENERATION.

CLARA M. LOWER, of David H. and Susannah (Carbaugh) Lower, born at Hunting, Pa., May 2, 1846; married William M. Alter November 19, 1868; died at Windsor, Col., January 12, 1905. William M. Alter was born at Scalplevel, Pa., in August, 1846, and is at this time (1912) living at Windsor, Col. Their children:

FIFTH GENERATION.

ISOLA S. ALTER, of William M. and Clara M. (Lower) Alter, born August 30, 1874; married March 7, 1901, to Robert E. Hanna. To them was born a daughter, Clara Marguerite Hanna, February 16, 1902.

WILLIAM H. AND JENNIE A. RAILSBACK.

They live at Windsor, Weld County, Col., where Robert E. is postmaster, and director in the Windsor bank. In politics he is a Republican. Mrs. Hanna is a member of the Methodist Church.

DELMER L. ALTER, of William M. and Clara M. (Lower) Alter, born November 19, 1881; married Bertha Scott. They have no children, and their home is in Portland, Ore.

FOURTH GENERATION.

JENNIE A. LOWER, of David H. and Susannah (Carbaugh) Lower, born at Hunting, Pa., April 18, 1848. When about two years of age her parents moved to Iowa, where she grew to womanhood. On June 13, 1872, she was married to Jerome B. Daniels at Malcomb, Iowa. To them were born three children, as follows: Eugene William, Ralph Lionel, and Edith Myrtle. In 1877 they moved to Kansas, settling in Jewell County, where Jerome B. died February 22, 1879. The same spring she went to Norton County, Kan., where her father and two brothers-in-law had taken homesteads. Here she met William H. Railsbach, whom she married. He was born at Ladoga, Crawford County, Ind., April 7, 1841. His parents were natives of Kentucky. To them were born two sons, David Harry and Squire Simpson. William H. owned a stock ranch near Devizes, Norton County, Kan., which they operated for many years, and which they sold, and located in 1901 at Prosser, Wash., purchasing land in the Yakima Valley, where they now reside (1912).

FIFTH GENERATION.

THIRD GENERATION.

ISAIAH LOWER, of Daniel and Eliza (Bartow) Lower, born June 27, 1840, and was killed July 3, 1861. He was a Union soldier, having enlisted with the three-months men. Just at the close of the three months he was shot by one of his own regiment, when he was coming in from the outer picket line. The man said he thought he was a rebel coming close to our line. His loss was keenly felt by his comrades, as he was a favorite in his company, a brave soldier and a Christian man.

SARAH LOWER, of Daniel and Eliza (Bartow) Lower, married Isaac Brenneman in Williamsburg, Pa., where they lived for some years, when they moved to Huntingdon, Pa., where she still lives. Her husband died many years ago. They had three children, namely, Orlo, Clyde and Maude. One of the sons lives at Huntingdon, Pa., and has a family. We have no further record.

HENRY GIBSON LOWER, of Daniel and Eliza (Bartow) Lower, born at Williamsburg, Pa., March 21, 1842. He married Susan Slonaker, at Williamsburg, Pa., January 28, 1865. She was born at Williamsburg, Pa., in 1845, and died in Salina, Kan., February 11, 1906, at the age of sixty-one years. To them were born three children, as follows: Carrie R., Vancie R., and Harry C. Henry Gibson enlisted in the 125th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry August 10, 1862, and served his country until May, 1863, during which time he took part in the following engagements: Malvern Hill, Va., Second Bull Run, South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Va., Chancellorsville, and many lively skirmishes, he being in the Army of the Potomac. In May, 1863, his time of enlistment having expired, he was mustered out. He then applied for reënlistment, but was rejected by the examining physician. In 1868 he moved from Williamsburg to Altoona, Pa., where he worked at his trade, which was carpentering, until 1877, when he, with his family, moved to Salina, Kan., where he is living at this time (1912), leading a retired life, after a long and active career. He always has taken an active part in local politics and has been a lifelong Republican.

FOURTH GENERATION.

CARRIE R. LOWER, of Henry Gibson and Susan (Slonaker) Lower, born at Williamsburg, Pa., November 19, 1866. She was educated in the Salina (Kan.) schools, learned the dressmaking trade, and is at this time (1912) living in Salina, Kan., with her father and brother Harry. She never married.

VANCIE R. LOWER, of Henry Gibson and Susan (Slonaker) Lower, born at Altoona, Pa., in 1872; died at Salina, Kan., January 28, 1878.

HARRY C. LOWER, of Henry and Susan (Slonaker) Lower, born at Altoona, Pa., January 20, 1875. He lives at Salina, Kan. He is a painter and decorator. He has musical talent and has for many years been a member of the Salina band. He has never married.

SECOND GENERATION.

JOHN LOWER, of Adam and Elizabeth Lower, was born February 18, 1793; died December 9, 1858, aged sixty-five years. Isabella Leaney, of James Leaney, was born December 13, 1792; died in March, 1856. John Lower and Isabella Leaney were married July 28, 1814. John Lower was a shoemaker by trade, and lived all his life in Williamsburg, Blair County, Pa. He and his family were Presbyterians. Mrs. Lower was of Scotch-Irish descent. She was about eight years old when her parents came over from Ireland. She had two brothers, John and Joseph, and three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, Mrs. Margaret Rager, and Mrs. Sarah Martin. After the death of her parents she went to live with an uncle in Huntingdon, who kept a hotel. There she learned to be an excellent cook. She was afflicted for two years with paralysis in the right side and lost the use of her right arm, but could walk. She lost her singing voice and could not sing. She had a beautiful voice before being paralyzed. She often said: "I can not sing now, but I will when I get to heaven." She has been in the heavenly choir for all these years. She died of paralysis. The commendation of my father when he died was this: "An honest man has gone." He died of no particular disease but loneliness.

Following is a copy of the "Release of John Lower" to his brother, David, who was administrator of the estate of their father, Adam Lower:

Know all men by these presents, that I, John Lower, son and legatee of Adam Lower, deceased, having had and received from David Lower, executor de bonis non of the last will and testament of Adam Lower, late of the Borough of Williamsburg, deceased, twenty-five dollars lawful money of Pennsylvania, it being in full of my share of said estate, having remised, and released, and forever quitclaimed to David Lower, of Woodbury Township, County of Huntingdon, and State of Pennsylvania, executor of the last will and testament of Adam Lower, deceased, all, and all manner of claims, actions, suits and causes of actions, suits recoverings and demand, whatsoever for or concerning any lands, tenements or hereditaments, or any other estate of the said Adam Lower, deceased, either real or personal, or for any other goods, sums of money whatever, or any other thing or things to me bequeathed in or by the said Adam Lower. And I do further also hereby remise, release and quitclaim unto the said David Lower all, and all manner of actions, and suits, and causes of actions, and suits, debts, duties and demands whatsoever, from the beginning of the world unto the day of the date hereof. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this fourth day of April, A. D. 1836.

JOHN LOWER [SEAL].

Signed in the presence of
DAVID AKE.

Huntingdon County, ss.

Personally appeared before me the subscriber, one of the Justices of the Peace in and for said county, John Lower, and acknowledged the above instrument of writing to be his act and deed, to the end that the same might be recorded as such. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this fourth day of April, 1836.

DAVID AKE [SEAL].

JAMES HENRY LOWER, of James and Ann Lower, was born April 27, 1855; married, October 18, 1882, Louisa Virginia Quinn, who was born June 22, 1855. They have one child, Claire Virginia Lower, born March 11, 1885; married Linder E. Punskey August 31, 1910. To them was born a son, Robert Lower Punskey, December 10, 1911. James Henry Lower is a partner with his two brothers, Stephen W. and William J., and successors of their father, in the same business in the Teagarden block in LaPorte, Ind., under the company name of James Lower's Sons.

STEPHEN WHITAKER LOWER, of James and Ann Lower, was born March 10, 1857; married, September 29, 1881, Ida Belle Oliver, who was born in Michigan City, LaPorte County, Ind., July 1, 1862. Stephen W. is a partner with his two brothers, succeeding their father. Mrs. Ida B. Lower is a member of the Episcopal Church. Their children are as follows:

Leslie Oliver Lower, born February 23, 1885; married, September 2, 1911, Claire B. Steele.

Lottie May Lower, born January 30, 1887.

WILLIAM JOSEPH LOWER, of James and Ann Lower, was born February 24, 1864; married, May 30, 1888.

BENJAMIN LOWER, 1824-1910.
ANNA MARY (MILLIKEN) LOWER, 1822-1910.

Minnie Burton, who was born in Michigan October 20, 1865. William J. is a partner with his two brothers, as successors to their father, under the company name of James Lower's Sons. Their children are:

Myrtle Martha Lower, born February 16, 1890.

Lecta Purcell Lower was born January 20, 1892.

All of the above families, descendants of James and Ann Lower, are members of the Presbyterian Church, except Stephen Whitaker.

THIRD GENERATION.

BENJAMIN LOWER, of John and Isabella Lower, was born in Williamsburg, Pa., March 2, 1824, and died March 8, 1910. He married Anna Mary Milliken January 14, 1851; she was born March 25, 1822, and died February 22, 1910. They lived some years in Williamsburg, Pa., then moved to Altoona, Pa. They built their own house. He was a plasterer by trade, but had learned the shoemaking trade with his father. After some years they moved to Iroquois County, Ill., on the Iroquois River, six miles from Ashkum. The farm belonged to his brother, James Lower, of LaPorte, Ind. He bought land adjoining for himself. After some years he sold out and bought a farm about a mile from Ashkum, which he afterward sold and bought a half block in Ashkum and built a home, where he lived the remainder of his life. They were members of the Congregational Church, as there was no Presbyterian Church in the town.

FOURTH GENERATION.

JAMES MAXWELL LOWER, of Benjamin and Ann

Lower, born November 5, 1851; died February 16, 1864.

ADDA CATHERINE LOWER, of Benjamin and Ann Lower, born October 4, 1853; married William D. Bridge January 21, 1880. They had no children. He was a farmer, and lived on a farm near Ashkum when he died. After his death his wife went to live with her parents in Ashkum, and lived with them until they died. Then she rented the property and went to live with her sister, Malinda, at Granger, Wash., where she makes her home (1911).

ADORA BELL LOWER, of Benjamin and Ann Lower, born September 19, 1855; died May 9, 1894.

JOHN LEANEY LOWER, of Benjamin and Ann Lower, born October 19, 1857; married Kate E. Curtz October 1, 1890. She died, leaving two children, Angus Sylvester Lower, born September 15, 1891, and Ray Irvin Lower, born November 20, 1893. He married Stella M. Little (maiden name Gilpin) September 3, 1907. She was born September 23, 1866. He is engaged in the mercantile business in Emington, Ill.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN LOWER, of Benjamin and Ann Lower, born November 3, 1862; died March 25, 1864.

MARY MALINDA LOWER, of Benjamin and Ann Lower, born March 10, 1865; married Ed. L. Duckham March 23, 1887. He was born March 5, 1865. He is a farmer. They lived in their own home in Ashkum, near her parents. A few years ago they moved to Granger, Wash., and took a homestead, where they still live (1912). Their children are:

Roy Raymond Duckham, born June 4, 1888.

Lona Geneva Duckham, born January 12, 1890.

Earnest William Duckham, born October 10, 1893.

Laura Ann Duckham, born August 8, 1895.

Infant daughter, born and died April 11, 1901.

Rolland Everet Duckham, born November 11, 1910.

THIRD GENERATION.

ISABELLA LOWER, of John and Isabella Lower, born February 1, 1827; married John O. Shelp March 18, 1868. He was born of Scotch-Irish parents in Montgomery County, N. Y., May 21, 1827, and died at Geneva, Neb., in February, 1904. Isabella died at Harvard, Neb., June 20, 1902. They are both buried in the Harvard (Neb.) Cemetery. John O. Shelp enlisted in the Union army in August, 1861, and served during the rebellion. He was nineteen months in prison — six months in Libby and thirteen months in Andersonville. This was detrimental to his health and he was almost a nervous wreck. He clerked a few years in the hardware store of James Lower, in LaPorte, Ind.; later he moved to Harvard, Neb., where he remained until his wife's death, when he went to live with a niece, Mrs. Lincoln, at Geneva, Neb. He was a member of the Christian Church, which church his wife united with, although she was raised a Presbyterian. He was buried by the G. A. R. Post, as he had requested. They had one son, James Lower, born February 5, 1871. He married at Gladstone, N. D., and is at present (1912) station agent at Forsythe, Minnesota.

JOSEPH LEANEY LOWER, of John and Isabella Lower, was born in Williamsburg, Pa., July 14, 1829; married Susan Thurlow Chase, of West Newbury, Mass., August 29, 1861. She was born March 17, 1830; died February 8, 1912, at their prairie home in Lincoln County, Col., and buried at Harvard, Neb.

In 1829 the town of Williamsburg was in Huntingdon County, before Blair County was formed. Hollidaysburg was made the county seat. At that time Williamsburg was a small town on the Juniata River and the Pennsylvania and Ohio Canal, which later was sold to the railroad company, and now they have a railroad.

Joseph Leaney Lower, the author of this history, bears the titles of Rev. Joseph Leaney Lower, A.M., D.D. So far as is known, he seems to be the only minister of the gospel in the whole Lower connection. He was converted in early life, August 26, 1847, while sorely afflicted with dyspepsia, which troubled him many years, and was cured when about forty-five years of age. He united with the Presbyterian Church in October, 1847. His health improved, and he was received as a candidate for the ministry in the Presbytery of Huntingdon. He studied at home for about two years, and about two years under Rev. James Y. McGinnes, at Milnwood Academy, at Shade Gap, Pa. He entered the sophomore class at Jefferson College, Cannonsburg, Pa., in September, 1852, and graduated in April, 1856, with the degree of A.B. In March, 1856, his mother died. He lost the junior year with typhoid fever. He taught vocal music part of that year at Huntingdon, Altoona and Hollidaysburg, Pa.

He entered Princeton Theological Seminary in September, 1856, and graduated in April, 1859; was licensed by Huntingdon Presbytery, at Huntingdon, Pa., in April, 1859, and received a call to the Presbyterian churches of Crown Point and Salem, Ind., in the Presbytery of Lake, now Logansport. He was ordained, and installed pastor over those churches December 22, 1859. His two sisters, Isabella and Margaretta Lower, kept house for him. There he became acquainted with Miss Susan T. Chase, who was teaching the academy of that place.

In 1865 he was called to the Presbyterian Church of Upper Sandusky, O., in the Presbytery of Bellefontaine. While there a brick church was built, at a cost of $12,000.

In 1867 he was called to the Wooster University as its financial agent, and work for an endowment in the Presbytery of Marion, with headquarters at Delaware, O. On account of the debt on the defunct Delaware Female College, he found subscriptions for Wooster University were hard to obtain. Owing largely to this obstacle, he was willing to accept the call to the First Presbyterian Church of Delaware, O., in 1867, which church he supplied until April, 1868, when he accepted a call to the churches of Kingston and Brown, and was installed as pastor. In Delaware his four-year-old son, Wallace Chase, died.

Dr. Lower was called in 1872 to the Presbyterian Church of Union City, Ind., and was installed. In 1874 he was called to DeGraff, O., in the Bellefontaine Presbytery, and was pastor-elect until 1876, when he received a call to Turtle Creek Church, in the Lima Presbytery.

In 1877 he took charge of Thornton and Verona churches, in the Presbytery of Hastings, Neb. During the time he ministered to those churches he lived in Harvard, Neb., where he organized a church and built a chapel. In 1883 he became financial secretary of Hastings College. Relinquishing that, he took charge of the churches of Kenesaw and Hartwell. He again took charge of the churches of Thornton and Verona in 1886. He was called to Akron, Col., Presbytery of Denver, in 1887, at which place a frame church was built, at a cost of $1,800.

In 1891 he was called to Valverde, a suburb of Denver, and organized a church, and from there he was called in 1894 to Delta, Col., Presbytery of Gunnison, where was built a manse worth $1,800. From there, in 1897, he went to Ridgeway, Col., and organized a church. He broke down with nervous debility in 1901 on account of the altitude, seven thousand feet, and did not preach regularly for six years. He was honorably retired by the Presbytery of Gunnison in 1902.

Upon regaining his health, he was called, in 1907, to Arvada Presbyterian Church, Presbytery of Denver, where his work, with the help of his wife, was very successful.

Dr. Lower received the degree of A.M. from Jefferson College in 1866, and of D.D. from Richmond College in 1897.

Dr. Lower was Commissioner to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., four times: at Peoria, Ill., in 1863; at Springfield, Ill., in 1882; at Winona, Ind., in 1897, and at Springfield, Mo., in 1900.

He was Moderator of the Synod of Colorado in October, 1899; Stated Clerk of Gunnison Presbytery for two years, 1900 and 1901. He was many times Moderator of different presbyteries.

His most extensive revivals of religion were at Crown Point and Salem, Ind., and at Kingston and Upper Sandusky, O.

Dr. Lower began teaching vocal music when a boy at home, first with a class of fourteen little girls from eight to fourteen years of age. This was to test his ability to teach music. He was very successful in this, and thereby received his complimentary reputation as a teacher. Then he taught vocal music for two years at the Milnwood Academy; then for three years at Jefferson College, besides teaching a vocal class in Olome Female Seminary, in the same place. He organized a choir in the First Presbyterian Church in Princeton, N. J., and taught a class in the theological seminary. After settling as a pastor at Crown Point, Ind., he taught classes of vocal music in his congregation. He gave much time and attention to drilling Sabbath schools and choirs.

SUSAN T. LOWER's parents were William Chase, born in West Newbury, Mass., August 1, 1805; married, about 1826, Sarah Colcord Wadleigh, born June 10, 1806, in West Newbury, Mass. She died in November, 1862, and he died in July, 1888, both in Haverhill, Mass. They had eleven children, five sons and six daughters. Some died young and others lived to a good age; two sons and two daughters are still living (1911); three live in Haverhill, Mass. Susan T. is one and the eldest. She graduated at the Female Seminary in Gorham, Me., and taught school many years.

Following is an account of the golden wedding of Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Leaney Lower, taken from the Herald and Presbyter of September 13, 1911:

GOLDEN WEDDING.

Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Leaney Lower, D.D., celebrated their golden wedding, at their prairie home at Kutch, Colorado, on August 29, 1911. A reception was held in the afternoon, attended by many of the friends and neighbors. Very delightful religious exercises were conducted. Refreshments were served, and hearty congratulations were tendered the venerable couple by all who were present, with their best and heartiest wishes.

Dr. Lower was eighty-two years of age July 14, 1911, and Mrs. Lower was eighty-one March 17, 1911.

Their children are as follows:

FOURTH GENERATION.

MARGARET AUSTRIA LOWER, of Joseph L. and Susan T. Lower, born in Crown Point, Lake County, Ind., May 25, 1862; died in Harvard, Clay County, Neb., November 10, 1881. She united with the Presbyterian Church at about the age of eighteen.

WALLACE CHASE LOWER, of Joseph L. and Susan T. Lower, born in Crown Point, Ind., February 24, 1864; died in Delaware, O., February 20, 1868.

RALPH LEANEY LOWER, of Joseph L. and Susan T.

Lower, born in Upper Sandusky, Wyandotte County, O., July 5, 1866; united with the Presbyterian Church at Hastings, Neb., while at college. He married Nellie Mable Hunter, of Denver, Col., April 12, 1892; she was born in Chicago, Ill., September 7, 1873. They were members of the South Broadway Presbyterian Church. Ralph L. Lower is an elder in the Presbyterian Church. Her father's name is Ed. Hunter, who had two children by his first wife, George and Nellie, and one by his second wife, Caddie, who is married. Her mother is dead. George Hunter married and had two children, a son and daughter. Ralph L. Lower is a carpenter by trade. They lived in Denver, Delta and Ridgeway, Col., and are now (1911) living in Los Angeles, Cal. They are a musical family, and a great help to the church music. The girls, although young, have distinguished themselves in music. Their children are:

FIFTH GENERATION.

ALBERT HUNTER LOWER, of Ralph and Nellie M. Lower, born in Denver, Col., October 18, 1893.

ELIZABETH SAWYER LOWER, of Ralph L. and Nellie M. Lower, born in Delta, Delta County, Col., May 27, 1898.

MARGARET CHASE LOWER, of Ralph L. and Nellie M. Lower, born in Denver, Col., June 4, 1903.

FOURTH GENERATION.

ALBERT PORTER LOWER, of Joseph L. and Susan T. Lower, born in Kingston Township, Delaware County, O., May 14, 1868; married Susan Adell Hooper in February, 1893; she was born in February, 1875. They live on a homestead in Phelps County, Neb., ten miles northwest of Oxford. They are members of the M. E. Church in that neighborhood. Albert is a steward in the Methodist Church (the Frank Nailor Memorial). They raise fine horses and some very fast goers.

Susie's father died, and her mother married Mr. Miller. Susie has two full brothers and one half brother. Albert P. and Susie A. had many children, who died in infancy, and but one living, Harlan Joseph, who was born on the homestead in Nebraska August 3, 1895. They lived four years in Colorado, at Delta and Ridgeway. They were on a farm fifteen miles from Delta; then he teamed. At Ridgeway he did carpentering on the railroad with his brother, Ralph.

WILLIAM HARLAN LOWER, of Joseph L. and Susan T. Lower, born at Old Eden, Delaware County O., February 15, 1871; married Laura Ruth Garrison, of Denver, Col., December 28, 1898; she was born in Paterson, N. J., April 3, 1875. They are Presbyterians. William H. is superintendent of the Pleasant Valley Sunday school of the Denver colony. She was formerly a member of the Baptist Church in Denver. William H. learned the grocery business with Mr. Welch in Denver, and for a while had a grocery of his own in Denver. They lived a while in Ridgeway, Col., where he owned a grocery business, and sold it to J. L. Criswell, then clerked for him. Next he moved to a preëmption claim near Delta, Col.; from there to Denver, and worked for the Campbell & Sell Bakery. In May, 1910, they moved to a homestead of three hundred and twenty acres in Horse Creek Valley, Lincoln County, Col., where they now reside (1912). Their children are as follows: Frank Garrison Lower, born January 4, 1902, and Ruth VanWinkle Lower, born December 24, 1904.

SECOND GENERATION.

MARY LOWER, of Adam and Elizabeth Lower, born March 11, 1797, at Williamsburg, Pa.; died December 3, 1866, at Williamsburg, Pa.; she never married. She lived most of her life with her brother, David. She was a member of the Lutheran Church, and was buried in the Lutheran Graveyard in Williamsburg. She was often with her brothers, who lived in Williamsburg. She was a favorite in the family and loved by all the children. She was known as Aunt Polly.

DAVID LOWER, of Adam and Elizabeth Lower, born in Williamsburg, Blair County, Pa., May 1, 1801; died at Lanark, Ill., April 6, 1881; married Susan Rhodes March 12, 1829. She was born at Morrison Cove, Blair County, Pa., April 10, 1810; died at Lanark, Ill., December 23, 1898. Their early home was on Piney Creek, about three miles south of Williamsburg, Pa., land formerly owned by his father, Adam Lower, where they lived until 1861, and where all their children were born. He was the youngest child of Adam and Elizabeth Lower, and was administrator of the estate.

DAVID LOWER, 1801-1881.

SUSAN (RHODES) LOWER, 1810-1898.

David was a carpenter by trade, but farmed for many years in Pennsylvania and Illinois, and was a pilot on the Susquehanna and Juniata Rivers. It was on a piloting trip, when a young man, that he saw one of the first grain cradles, and which appealed to him so strongly that he purchased it, and carried it on his shoulder from Maryland across the mountains, a distance of one hundred and twenty miles. This was the first grain cradle in Blair County, Pa., and people came for many miles to see it. He was a very strong man physically, and became a skillful cradler of grain. He manufactured grain cradles himself, and had one for his own use which was six inches longer than the ordinary, in order to cut a wider swath.

In 1861 he, with his wife and four younger children, moved to Dwight, Livingston County, Ill., near which place he had purchased land some years previous, having taken the Illinois land at three dollars per acre in exchange for land near Williamsburg, Pa.

In October, 1863, they moved by wagon to their farm in Carroll County, Ill., about a half mile south of Lanark, where they converted the raw prairie into a home, and where they lived until 1870, when they moved into the town of Lanark, and occupied the brick house, which they had built, which still stands, and where they lived the remainder of their lives. They were members of the Lutheran Church.

Of Susan (Rhodes) Lower's family we give the following history: Her paternal grandfather was born in Germany, but date and place of birth are not known. When but twelve years of age he, with ten other members of his family, left their native land and sailed for America. During the voyage, which lasted six months, an epidemic broke out on board ship, and of the eleven who left their native home for the new country, but one survived. Christopher, aged twelve, landed alone. In Philadelphia he was taken by a kind man and wife, who raised him as their own child. Although adopted, he retained his own name, and at the death of his foster parents he fell heir to their property, they being childless. He was married in Northumberland County, Pa., and was the father of ten children, one daughter and nine sons. He lived in the country and did team work, making trips to the city. On one of these trips he purchased a set of cups and saucers with handles, made of red pottery clay, which were the first to be brought to that part of the country, and caused much curiosity. About that time coffee began to be used, and when the minister, in those days known as a "circuit rider," was expected, the cups and saucers were loaned around the neighborhood in honor of the minister. At the time of his death, which occurred at an advanced age, he was living in Morrison Cove, Blair County, Pa. He was buried at Piney Creek, two miles from Springfield Furnace.

Her father, Samuel Rhodes, the seventh son of Christopher Rhodes, was born and raised in Northumberland County, Pa. At the age of twenty he was married to Catherine Reed, who also was born in the same county. Her age at marriage was fifteen years. They lived in Northumberland County until the birth of their second son, after which they moved to Morrison Cove, Blair County. Eighteen children blessed this union. Their names in rotation are as follows: Mary (Mrs. Downing), Susan (Mrs. Lower), Michael, Catherine (Mrs. Ichholts), Barbara (Mrs. Beal), Elizabeth (Mrs. Lydy), John, Margaret, Samuel, Sarah (Mrs. Hoover), Joseph, George, Jonathan, Rachel (Mrs. Hileman), Rebecca (Mrs. Randabaugh), infant not named, Leah (Mrs. Daniel Beal), and David.

Samuel Rhodes moved to Wayne County, O., in 1845, lived there one year, then moved to Richland County, where he lived until his death, the greater part of his later years being spent with his daughter, Mrs. Lydy. He died March 4, 1870, at the age of eighty-seven years, and is buried near Ankneytown, O.

Her mother, Catherine Reed Rhodes, died in her forty-third year at Springfield Furnace, on Piney Creek, and was buried at Williamsburg, in the German Reformed Cemetery.

David and Susan Lower had ten children born on the farm near Williamsburg, Pa., as follows (all baptized in the Lutheran Church at Williamsburg, Pa.): Levi, Elizabeth, Samuel, Abram, Martin Luther, Mary Catherine, Eli L., Rachel Rebecca, Anna Margaret, and Hannah Leah.

THIRD GENERATION.

LEVI LOWER, of David and Susan Lower, born April 16, 1830; married Mary Dougal November 13, 1854, at Rock Island, Ill. She was born at Greensburg, Westmoreland County, Pa., July 12, 1833; died at Clifton, Kan., October 13, 1909. His early boyhood was spent on his father's farm near Williamsburg, Pa., and among his many reminiscences of the old home is seeing his father cradle grain with a cradle which he carried on foot from Maryland across the mountains, a distance of one hundred and twenty miles, which was the first and only cradle in that locality; and of the neighbors coming for many miles to see it work, it being such an improvement over the reaper hook, or what is now known as the grass hook, which up to that time was the best known method of harvesting grain. He drove four- and six-horse teams over the pike road from Baltimore to Pittsburg, which was before any railroads were built that far west, and teams were the only method of transportation. Later in the forties the Canal and Portage Railroad was built across the mountains.

In 1848 he went to work in Williamsburg for James Smith in a blacksmith shop, which work he continued for eighteen months, when he went to Wooster, O., to work in a hame shop for Snipes & Mulholann. He then went to Davenport, Iowa, then to Port Byron, Ill., then to Mount Carroll, Lyons, Iowa, and Fulton, Ill. When the town of Clinton, Iowa, started, he went there, and worked with Piper & Dr. Jeffers at the carpentering trade for some time, when he returned to Port Byron, Ill., where he was married November 13, 1854. He built a house in the eastern part of Port Byron, where they lived till the winter of 1858, when they moved to a farm near Lanark, Carroll County, Ill., where they lived till September 7, 1861, when he enlisted to serve three years, or during the war, and was mustered into the United States service at Camp Butler, Springfield, Ill., on the seventh day of September, 1861, as a private of Captain Lewis Heffelfinger's Company I, Thirty-fourth Regiment, Illinois Volunteer Infantry, Colonel E. N. Kirk commanding. This regiment was organized at Camp Butler, Springfield, Ill., September 7, 1861, under Colonel Kirk, who was its first Colonel, and moved, October 2d, to Lexington, Ky., thence to Louisville, Ky., and Camp Nevin, Ky., where it remained until February 14, 1862. It was assigned to Kirk's brigade of Rousseau's division, and marched to Bowling Green, Ky., thence to Savannah, Tenn. It participated in the battle of Shiloh, or Pittsburg Landing, Tenn., being in McCook's brigade of Buell's army, and lost fifteen killed and one hundred and twelve wounded. It then marched to Corinth, Miss., where it was engaged, thence moved to Alabama, and encamped more than a month at Battle Creek. It arrived at Louisville, Ky., September 27th; thence to Frankfort, October 1st; thence to Nashville, Tenn., remaining in camp near there until December 26, 1862. It was here assigned to the Second Brigade, Second Division, Fourteenth Army Corps, and took part in engagements at Triune and Murfreesboro, or Stone River, Tenn. It became a part of the Twentieth Corps, and on June 24th moved to Liberty Gap, where it defeated the enemy, and on August 16th moved to Bellefontaine, Ala., and detailed as provost guard until the 30th, then moved to Caperton's Ferry and left to guard the pontoon bridge. It took part in the battle of Chickamauga, Ga., September 19th and 20th, and arrived at Chattanooga November 15th, and on the next day engaged the retreating enemy near Graysville. It went on an expedition into East Tennessee as far as Loudon, where it was detailed to run a grist mill, grinding corn and wheat for the division, returning to Chattanooga December 19, 1863. December 22d it reenlisted as a veteran organization, and on January 8, 1864, started on a veteran furlough. It returned to Chattanooga March 7, 1864, and moved to join the Second Brigade in camp near Rossville, Ga., as a part of the Second Division, Fourteenth Army Corps. May 5th it started on the Atlanta campaign, and participated in the following engagements: Rocky Face Ridge, Resaca, Rome, Dallas, Big Shanty, Kenesaw Mountain, Siege of Atlanta, and Jonesboro, Ga. It pursued Forrest to Florence, Ala., after which it rejoined Sherman's army, and participated in the March to the Sea and Campaign of the Carolinas, including engagements at Averasboro and Bentonville, N. C. After Johnson's surrender it marched to Washington, D. C., and participated in the Grand Review May 24, 1865. June 12th it moved to Louisville, Ky., remaining there until mustered out, July 12, 1865. He was promoted to Corporal, Sergeant, and Orderly Sergeant of his company.

He was wounded at Pittsburg Landing, Tenn., by gunshot in the right thigh, causing a flesh wound. At the battle of Stone River, Tenn., he received four slight wounds, but did not go to the hospital. At Liberty Gap, Tenn., he was slightly wounded in the left hand, the ball shattering the gun stock in his hand.

In the same engagement he was slightly wounded in the left side of the face. He was also slightly wounded by gunshot in the left shoulder at Resaca, Ga. He was captured at Stone River, Tenn., but recaptured by the Fourth Michigan Cavalry December 31, 1862. He was again captured with a wagon train between Wilson Creek and LaVergne, Tenn., but escaped his captors. While foraging in Kentucky he was captured and sent back twelve miles by his captors, but escaped his guard in the night and rejoined his command. He bore a gallant part in all the engagements of his command down to and including Jonesboro, Ga., and rendered faithful and meritorious service to his country at all times. He received an honorable discharge at Atlanta, Ga., on the twelfth day of September, 1864, by reason of expiration of his term of service.

Upon his return home he again took up the carpentering trade at Port Byron, Ill., to which place his wife and three children removed during his term of enlistment. For some time he worked for Shepard & Devore in the boat yard at Port Byron, then went to Burlington, Iowa, and worked on a railroad bridge and hotel, then moved to Clinton, Iowa, and then to Alvira, where they lived till 1870, when they moved to Washington County, Kan., and took a homestead in Section 31, T. 3, R. 2, built a frame house 12 x 16, one story, in which the family of eight lived for three years, when an addition was built, 12 x 12, with an upstairs, and later two more rooms were added, and a good frame barn took the place of the sod one.

In 1885 they built a good frame house and other good improvements on what was known as the "Pym farm," in Section 1, Brantford Township, and moved to that place the same year, where they lived till 1895, when they sold this farm to S. G. Cooley, and moved to Haddam, Kan., where he, with three of his sons, purchased the Citizens' State Bank, of which institution he has been President since that date. After living in Haddam two years, they moved to Concordia, where they lived for about five years, when they moved to Clifton, Kan., near where they owned several farms, and had many old-time homestead friends with whom to associate. Besides his interest in the Citizens' State Bank of Haddam, Kan., he has for many years been interested in various banking institutions with his sons, and is at present a director in their banks at Narka, Republic and Courtland, Kan. He has also held office as County Commissioner of Washington County, Kan., from 1886 to 1890, during which administration the present court house was built. He is a member of Sedgwick Post, No. 24, Department of Kansas, Grand Army of the Republic, in which he has held office as Senior Vice-Commander one term. In politics he is a Republican.

MARY (DOUGAL) LOWER was the daughter of Henry and Elizabeth (Boyd) Dougal, both natives of Pennsylvania. Her girlhood days were spent on the home farm near Greensburg, Westmoreland County, Pa., until, when eighteen years of age, with her parents she removed to Rock Island County, Ill. Her father, Henry Dougal, was born January 6, 1790; died at Port Byron, Ill., January 24, 1859. Her mother, Elizabeth (Boyd) Dougal, was born March 16, 1792; died at Port Byron, Ill., March 20, 1875.

Henry Dougal's parents were born in Scotland, and Elizabeth (Boyd) Dougal's parents were born in Ireland. On March 29, 1851, Henry Dougal, with his family, left their native home in Westmoreland County, Pa., to locate in Illinois. The trip was made by water, sailing down the Ohio River to Cairo, then up the Mississippi River, landing at Rock Island, Ill., April 22, 1851. Here they remained but a few days, when they moved by wagon to Port Byron, Ill., and in the spring of 1852 purchased a farm of eighty acres near there, on which they built a log house, and where the parents spent the remainder of their days. Their children were: Alexander, James, Henry, Robert, Margaret, Johannah, and Mary. Mrs. Lower was a Presbyterian.

Her father, Henry Dougal, was a soldier in the Black Hawk War. Her brother, Henry Dougal, was a soldier in the Civil War, serving in the 126th Illinois Volunteers, and died while in service. His remains rest at Paducah, Ky.

Following are the children of Levi and Mary (Dougal) Lower: David Elwood, James Blair, Henry Martin, Emma Clara, Frank Grant, William Sherman.

FOURTH GENERATION.

DAVID ELWOOD LOWER, of Levi and Mary Lower, born at Port Byron, Ill., November 3, 1857; married Emma J. Odell, of Waterville, Kan., February 18, 1884. She was born at Westchester, N. Y., February 18, 1866. She is a daughter of Peter and Elizabeth (Corney) Odell. At the time of her marriage she was teaching school in Washington County, which profession she followed for several years.

David Elwood came, with his parents, to Washington County, Kan., in 1870. Here he attended the common schools until, when a young man, he attended the Monroe Institute, in Atchison, Kan. He then taught school for many years. In 1879 he homesteaded a quarter section of land near his father's farm in Washington County, which he later sold, and in 1891 bought a quarter section of land near Day, Kan., in the same county, where they lived until 1895, when they sold their farm and moved to the Puget Sound country, in Washington, where they lived till 1899, during which time he taught school, and was Deputy Head Councilor of the Modern Woodmen of America, and was chosen as the State delegate by that order to the head camp, which was held at Kansas City, Mo., in 1899, he being the long-distance delegate, traveling over twenty-six hundred miles. They then returned to Blue Rapids, Kan., and he traveled, selling specialties until 1901, when he embarked in the banking business at Narka, Kan., as cashier of the State Bank of Narka, which position he held till 1909, when he purchased the business of the Narka Drug Company, which his son, Walter B., managed until the fall of 1911, when he traded the drug business for a tract of land near Edna, Tex., where they now reside. He is a Republican in politics and has held many public offices. Is a member of the A. F. and A. M., I. O. O. F., and M. W. of A.

Their children are as follows: Raymond A., Wesley D., Walter B., and Alma Della.

FIFTH GENERATION.

RAYMOND ARTHUR LOWER, of David Elwood and Emma J. Lower, born at Strawberry, Kan., July 31, 1887. He lives at Narka, Kan., where he is cashier of the State Bank of Narka, successor to his father.

WESLEY DONALD LOWER, of David Elwood and Emma J. Lower, born at Strawberry, Kan., April 13, 1889; married, August 2, 1910, to Ruby Mildred McCall, of Munden, Kan.; she was born October 6, 1890. She is a daughter of Frank A. and Lois (Sprague) McCall. Their home is at Narka, Kan., where he is assitant cashier of the State Bank of Narka.

WALTER BENJAMIN LOWER, of David Elwood and Emma J. Lower, born at Day, Kan., September 26, 1892. He is a pharmacist and registered in twenty-two States.

ALMA DELLA LOWER, of David and Emma J. Lower, born at Day, Kan., October 1, 1895. She is at home at Edna, Tex.

FOURTH GENERATION.

JAMES BLAIR LOWER, of Levi and Mary Lower, born at Lanark, Ill., July 30, 1860; married Minnie Potter, of Palmer, Kan., May 30, 1888; she was born at Palmer, Kan., March 5, 1871. She is a daughter of Charles D. and Levina A. Potter.

James B. came to Kansas in 1870 with his parents, and was reared on the homestead farm, where he attended the public school in winter and did farm work in summer, until when a young man he attended the Monroe Institute in Atchison, Kan., after which he taught school for several years. On July 30, 1881, he homesteaded a quarter section of land adjoining his father's farm. In 1886 he engaged in the banking business in Palmer, Kan., he and his father having purchased an interest in the Bank of Palmer, and James B. was elected its cashier, which position he held for twelve years, when they disposed of their interests and purchased the Citizens' State Bank of Haddam, Kan., of which he has been cashier up to this date (1912). He is a Republican in politics, and was elected to the State Senate from Washington County in 1904 and reëlected in 1908. He is a member of the A. F. and A. M., I. O. O. F., A. O. U. W., and M. W. of A. Following are their children: Ora May, Edna Lavinia, and Ruth.

FIFTH GENERATION.

ORA MAY LOWER, of James Blair and Minnie P. Lower, born at Palmer, Kan., February 11, 1889; married Oliver Taylor Muth, of Haddam, Kan., December 20, 1908. He was born at Haddam, Kan., September 10, 1887. Ora May attended the College of the Sisters of Bethany at Topeka, Kan., and graduated in the class of 1907 with the highest honors. She is an Episcopalian. They have one child, Henry Lower Muth, born September 12, 1910. They reside at Haddam, Kan., where he is engaged in the lumber business.

EDNA LAVINIA LOWER, of James Blair and Minnie

P. Lower, born at Palmer, Kan., February 22, 1891. She has finished the common school, and is attending the College of the Sisters of Bethany at Topeka, Kan.

RUTH LOWER, of James Blair and Minnie P. Lower, born at Haddam, Kan., January 23, 1901.

FOURTH GENERATION.

HENRY MARTIN LOWER, of Levi and Mary Lower, born at Lanark, Ill., May 9, 1862; married Jessie M. Sparks, June 6, 1892, at Morrowville, Kan.; she was born near Knoxville, Iowa, December 27, 1875. Henry Martin came, with his parents, to Washington County, Kan., in 1870, and was reared on their homestead. He attended the public school in winter and helped on the farm in summer. When but a boy he took to travel, making several trips to Illinois with boy companions, and spent some years on the Western cattle ranges, driving horses on the trail from Cheyenne, Wyo., to Walla Walla, Wash. Later he returned to Washington County and farmed on an extensive scale. He homesteaded in Washington County, but did not make final proof, which entitled him to a second homestead entry, which he used in Kay County, Okla., at the opening for settlement of the Cherokee strip, in 1893. He, with his brother, William S., entered the race for homes at Hunnewell, Kan. Henry M., weighing at that time two hundred and thirty pounds, took an extra saddle horse, which, after riding about five miles, he unsaddled and tied to a weed, near which all farms seemed to have been taken. Upon his return the following day he found the horse had "held down the farm," on which he made homestead entry, improved, and lived on till 1907, when he purchased a farm about two miles northeast of Wichita, Kan., where they have since lived. Following are their children:

FIFTH GENERATION.

Henry B. Lower, born at Morrowville, Kan., June 20, 1893.

Archie L. Lower, born at Hunnewell, Kan., October 22, 1895.

Clara M. Lower, born at Hunnewell, Kan., January 23, 1897; died at Hunnewell, Kan., October 26, 1899.

Zola P. Lower, born at Hunnewell, Kan., February 27, 1898.

Grace M. Lower, born at Hunnewell, Kan., July 3, 1900.

Virgil E. Lower, born at Hunnewell, Kan., June 6, 1906.

Ada L. Lower, born at Wichita, Kan., January 12, 1909.

Lois B. Lower, born at Wichita, Kan., January 2, 1911.

FOURTH GENERATION.

EMMA CLARA LOWER, of Levi and Mary (Douglass) Lower, born at Port Byron, Ill., October 20, 1866; married Carter Hart Foss, at Strawberry, Kan., March 3, 1891; he was born at Painesville, O., September 5, 1868. Emma C. came, with her parents, to Washington County, Kan., in 1870, and grew to womanhood on the homestead. She attended the public school, and later the graded school at Washington and Clifton. After their marriage, in 1891, they located in Casselton, N. D., where Carter H. had a position with the Grovenor Lumber Company, where they lived about one year. In January, 1892, they returned to Kansas and purchased the general store at Day, where they also conducted the grain and creamery business, in addition to being postmaster and railroad agent. Later they purchased the seventy acres of land adjoining the station. Here they lived and conducted the entire business of the station for ten years, when they sold their entire interests and moved to an adjoining farm, which they farmed, in addition to their own land, until 1909, since which time they have lived at Clifton, Kan.

Carter H. is a machinist and is employed in construction work, principally in Colorado. His parents were Richard and Ella (Carter) Foss. His father, Richard Foss, was a soldier in the Union army during the Civil War. They had two children, Carter H. and Harry C. Harry C. died at Casselton, N. D., in 1910. When Carter was small his parents removed to California, where they both died. After their death the boys were taken by their grandparents (Carters's) at Painesville, O., who raised and educated them. He is a member of the M. W. of A. and a Democrat in politics. Their children are:

FIFTH GENERATION.

Levi Richard Foss, born at Day, Kan., October 21, 1893.

Minnie Cliff Foss, born at Day, Kan., August 17, 1896.

FOURTH GENERATION.

FRANK GRANT LOWER, of Levi and Mary (Dougal) Lower, born at Alvira, Iowa, April 9, 1868; married Christina Ross February 13, 1901; she was born in Clay County, Kan., October 18, 1872. Her parents were Alexander and Margaret (Sutherland) Ross. She is a Presbyterian. Frank Grant came to Washington County, Kan., with his parents in 1870, and was reared on the homestead. He acquired a common-school education, and turned his attention to farming and stock raising, which he has followed with success. His name as given him was Frank "Ulysses," but it being hard for him to make the capital letter "U" when a boy, he decided to substitute "Grant" for Ulysses, which was in due recognition of the noted General, whom he admired. About 1897 they purchased a half section of land near Day, Kan., where they lived until 1908, during which time they had sold their land and purchased land in Tillman County, Okla. They then moved to Grandfield, Tillman County, Okla., where they now reside. They have no children. He is a member of the M. W. of A.

WILLIAM SHERMAN LOWER, of Levi and Mary (Dougal) Lower, born at Alvira, Iowa, May 9, 1870; married, July 19, 1891, Lillian M. Attebery, of Clifton, Kan. She was born at Clifton, Kan., November 17, 1871; died at Clay Center, Kan., May 27, 1897. Her parents were Thomas Attebery and Jennie (Certain) Attebery. Thomas Attebery was a soldier in the Civil War. To them was born a daughter, Oma Pearl Lower, at Palmer, Kan., November 16, 1894.

On February 27, 1900, he married Mary W. Johnson, of Courtland, Kan.; she was born at Courtland, Kan., December 23, 1873. She is a daughter of George and Elizabeth (Walsh) Johnson, of Courtland, Kan. She is a Roman Catholic. To them were born two children, as follows: Elizabeth Mary Lower, born at Courtland, Kan., January 10, 1901; died June 26, 1901. George Levi Lower, born at Burr, Otoe County, Neb., October 12, 1902.

William S. came, with his parents, to Washington County, Kan., in 1870, and was reared on the homestead. He attended the public school in winter and did farm work in summer till 1888, when he went to work in the Bank of Palmer with his brother, James B., which position he held for three years. In 1893 he, with his brother, Henry M., entered the "race" for homesteads in the Cherokee strip. He settled on a quarter section of land near where the town of Tonkawa now is, in Kay County, Okla., but a man named Peabody secured a prior filing, and was allowed to hold the land, which was then of but little value. A few months later he took a position in the Bank of Blackwell, which was the first banking institution in the town, and which position he resigned in a few months, and for the following six years was traveling most of the time over Kansas selling specialties. In 1899 he again engaged in the banking business, which he has since followed at Courtland, Kan., Burr, Neb.,

MARY ELIZABETH (DOWNS) LOWER, 1835-1898.

and Republic, Kan., where they now reside, and where they have land interests. He is a member of the A. F. and A. M., M. W. of A., and R. N. of A.

THIRD GENERATION.

ELIZABETH LOWER, of David and Susan Lower, born August 25, 1831; died February 20, 1833.

SAMUEL LOWER, of David and Susan Lower, born May 12, 1833; died at Lanark, Ill., April 20, 1909; married Mary Elizabeth Downs, at Williamsburg, Pa., February 14, 1856. She was born in Mount Pleasant, Pa., September 8, 1835; died at Dwight, Ill., February 24, 1898. Samuel was a blacksmith by trade, and worked at his trade for many years in Pennsylvania. In 1864 he moved to a farm near Dwight, Livingston County, Ill., and for some years followed farming, but later moved into the town of Dwight and again engaged in the blacksmith trade, which he followed until a few years prior to his death, when he disposed of the business and engaged in the hotel business in Dwight, which they followed until the death of his wife, after which he disposed of the hotel business, and lived most of the time among his children. He was a mechanic of unusual ability, and had a kindly disposition, that enabled him to get the most out of life. They had ten children, seven of whom survive them, as follows:

FOURTH GENERATION.

SUSAN JENNETTE LOWER, of Samuel and Mary E. (Downs) Lower, born in Blair County, Pa., in November, 1856; died December 21, 1856.

EDWARD LOWER, of Samuel and Mary E. (Downs) Lower, born in Blair County, Pa.; died in Dwight, Ill., June 14, 1872.

WILLIAM SYLVESTER LOWER, of Samuel and Mary E. (Downs) Lower, born in Blair County, Pa., and removed, with his parents, to Dwight, Ill., in 1864, where he still resides. He never married.

LEAH JANE LOWER, of Samuel and Mary E. (Downs) Lower, born in Blair County, Pa.; married Samuel H. Boyer, at Dwight, Ill., January 30, 1884. He was born in Blair County, Pa., July 25, 1858, and moved, with his parents, to Livingston County, Ill., in 1867. He acquired his education in the schools of Dwight Township, where he lived with his parents on the farm until twenty-five years of age. Leah Jane moved, with her parents, from Williamsburg, Pa., to Dwight, Ill., in 1864, where she attended the Dwight schools, married, and became the proud mother of five boys, all of whom live to bless her. Of recent years Samuel H. has been engaged in the livery business in Dwight, Ill., where they still reside. In politics he is a Republican, and attends the M. E. Church. He is a member of Camp No. 270, S. of V., of which he has served as Captain, and of the I. O. O. F. of Dwight, and Court of Honor, No. 508. Their children are as follows:

FIFTH GENERATION.

HARVEY R. BOYER, of Samuel H. and Leah Jane (Lower) Boyer, born at Dwight, Ill., October 6, 1884; married Louise E. Leach, of Dwight, Ill., August 8, 1906. They reside at Dwight, Ill.

ELWOOD A. BOYER, of Samuel H. and Leah Jane (Lower) Boyer, born at Broughton, Ill., January 6, 1887. Now resides at Dwight, Ill.

THIRD GENERATION.

ABRAM LOWER, third son of David and Susan (Rhodes) Lower, was born near Williamsburg, Pa.,

October 10, 1835. At the early age of fifteen years he began working for his uncle, Samuel Rhodes, teaming over the mountains from Franklin Forge to Rebecca Furnace, a distance of twelve miles, hauling pig iron with a four-horse team, making one trip each day, at a salary of six dollars per month, except in winter he received fifty cents a day extra (a man's wages), instead of attending school. The next year he worked for the Springfield Iron Works, hauling charcoal and iron ore. After this he worked at home, mostly teaming, until he came West in 1858, coming to Savanna, Carroll County, Ill., making the trip via boat from Pittsburg, on the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers. While engaged in farming near Lanark, Carroll County, Ill., he met Catherine Miller, second daughter of George and Margaret (Davis) Miller, whom he married October 16, 1860, in Dixon, Ill. They left immediately for their new home in Livingston County, Ill., making the trip by wagon. At that time their farm of one hundred and sixty acres was all unbroken prairie, and was twelve miles from the nearest town, which was Dwight. Other towns have since grown up nearer to them. Improvements have been made on the farm, and at the present time all of this, together with another farm of eighty acres, is under a high state of cultivation.

CATHERINE (MILLER) LOWER, second daughter of George and Margaret (Davis) Miller, was born August 7, 1842, at Chambersburg, Blair County, Pa. At the age of twelve years she came with her parents to make their home at Mount Carroll, Carroll County, Ill.

CATHERINE (MILLER) LOWER, 1842-1903.

Her father came from Germany at the age of nineteen years, and her mother was of German descent and was born in Canada. She was married October 16, 1860, to Abram Lower. To this union were born twelve children, namely:

FOURTH GENERATION.

Margaret Emma Lower, born August 4, 1861.

Kenneth Lower, born September 13, 1863; died October 15, 1864.

Augusta Susan Lower, born March 5, 1865.

Albert Miller Lower, born June 16, 1867.

Leon Leroy Lower, born January 7, 1869.

Frank David Lower, born November 5, 1870.

Marietta Lower, born June 12, 1873.

Lillian Loretta Lower, born December 1, 1876.

Arthur Lower, born October 3, 1878; died March 24, 1880.

Leah Grace Lower, born August 12, 1880.

Gertrude Ada Lower, born April 23, 1882.

Mable Lower, born January 11, 1884; died January 22, 1886.

All the children were born on the farm near Campus, Livingston County, which had been the home of Abram and Catherine Lower until she passed away, September 27, 1903, and where he still resides.

MARGARET EMMA LOWER, eldest daughter of Abram and Catherine (Miller) Lower, was born August 4, 1861, near Campus, Ill. She was married September 17, 1878, to Walter W. Morrison. They lived near Kempton, Ill., until January, 1880, when they moved to Jackson County, Mo. Here Walter was engaged in blacksmithing until the summer of 1890, when they moved to Omaha, Neb., at which time he was in the employ of the Burlington Railroad as inspector of freight cars. In the spring of 1896 they moved to their farm near Bartley, Red Willow County, Neb., where they now reside. During the years they lived in Omaha, Margaret was engaged in dressmaking, and from 1900 until 1906 was the manager of the McDowell Dressmaking School.

To this union were born five children:

FIFTH GENERATION.

Jennie Grace, born November 30, 1879; died December 10, 1879.

FOURTH GENERATION.

LILLIAN LORETTA LOWER was born in Broughton Township, Livingston County, Ill., December 1, 1876, and is the seventh child of Abram and Catherine (Miller) Lower. She received the advantages of a good common-school education. She was engaged for several years as dressmaker at home and at Omaha, Neb. Her early education, acquired in the public schools of her county, was supplemented by a course at Grand Prairie Seminary, Onarga, Ill. Subsequently she taught school for a number of years in Kankakee County. She attends the Methodist Episcopal Church. She was married to Thomas P. Maguire December 14, 1907.

Thomas P. Maguire was born in Spencer, Will County, Ill., March 14, 1871, and is the fifth and youngest child of Thomas and Mary (Mary McKenna) Maguire, who were natives of Garrison, Fermanagh County, and Drumlish, Longford County, Ireland, respectively. His father was born January 16, 1826, and came to the United States in 1847. Working on a farm in Massachusetts two years, he came West, and went into the employ of the Michigan Central Railway, for whom he worked twenty-eight years. He located in Joliet, Ill., in 1854, and was married to Mary McKenna in 1861. They lived in Joliet and vicinity until 1878, when they moved to their farm, which they purchased in 1867, in Round Grove Township, Livingston County, Ill., where he still resides, she passing away January 13, 1910, at the age of seventy-nine years.

During his boyhood our subject, Thomas P. Maguire, attended the common schools of Will and Livingston Counties, and spent two years at the Northern Indiana Normal School of Valparaiso, Ind. He has been actively engaged in farming his father's farm for a number of years, and also embarked in the grain and lumber business at Campus, Ill., with his only brother, James M., under the firm name of Maguire Brothers, which they conducted successfully for six years, and sold their plant to the Campus Grain Company. He continues to farm. As he lives within the corporate limits of the village of Campus, he has been an officer of the village for a number of years and is interested in other business enterprises in his town. He is a member of the Roman Catholic Church and a Democrat in politics. To them have been born three children:

FIFTH GENERATION.

for three years, or during the war. He did duty with his company till the winter of 1862-3, when he took sick at Danville, Ky., and was taken to Louisville, Ky., and put on boat to be taken to Nashville, Tenn., to join his regiment, when, reaching that place, he was much worse, and was left on the boat to return to Louisville, Ky. Soon after starting back, going down the Cumberland River, he died on the boat, February 20, 1863, and, as near as could be learned, was left at Clarksville, Tenn., where his remains still rest. He served but a short time, but gave his life for his country.

MARY CATHERINE LOWER, of David and Susan Lower, born September 20, 1840, near Williamsburg, Pa., came to Dwight, Ill., in 1861, and with her parents moved to Lanark, Ill., in 1863. She was married to Samuel B. McCoy, of Lanark, Ill., December 19, 1872. They lived on their farm near Lanark until the year 1902, when they bought land near Elk Point, S. D., and moved there, where she died May 15, 1909, and was brought to Lanark, Ill., and buried. Samuel Beatty McCoy was born in Washington County, Va., March 12, 1835; died at Elk Point, S. D., and was buried at Lanark, Ill. Their children were as follows:

ANNIE LEE MCCOY, of Samuel B. and Mary C. (Lower) McCoy, born at Lanark, Ill., October 28, 1879; died at Lanark, Ill., March 22, 1890.

THIRD GENERATION.

ELI L. LOWER, of David and Susan Lower, born July 17, 1843. He came, with his parents, to Illinois in 1861, and settled on a farm near Dwight, where he remained till 1862, when, at the call of President Lincoln for volunteers, he, on August 11, 1862, enlisted at Dwight, Ill., in Company B, 129th Illinois Volunteer Infantry, to serve three years, or during the war, and was mustered into the United States service at Pontiac, Ill. In about two weeks the regiment was sent to Louisville, Ky., where the army under General Buell had fallen back, with Bragg's army after them. They remained there about two weeks, and were then sent to help drive the enemy out of Kentucky and Tennessee, going by way of Frankfort, Perryville and Danville on to Bowling Green, where they went into camp. Up to this time he drove a government team.

NEOMA (SNELL) LOWER, 1850-1895.

At this place he quit driving and went to his company. Here they remained about four weeks, then moved to Mitchellsville, Tenn., and for some months did guard duty along the Louisville and Nashville Railroad to Gallatin, Tenn. After leaving Bowling Green he was appointed wagon master, having charge of four six-mule teams and twelve head of horses to scout with. Four negroes did the work. The horses had to be under saddle every morning at sunrise, ready for a scout. In May, 1863, the regiment was moved to Nashville, Tenn. He then went back to his company. The regiment did guard duty at this place till February, 1864, when they marched to Chattanooga. While on the way it rained and sleeted for three days and nights. Arriving at the foot of Lookout Mountain, they went into camp, and remained there till the second of May, 1864. During this time the army was consolidated, and they became the Third Brigade of the Third Division of the Twentieth Corps, commanded by General Jo Hooker.

On May 2d, they, with the rest of the army, started on the Atlanta Campaign, taking part in the following battles: Resaca, Kingston, Big Shanty, Kenesaw Mountain and Peach Tree Creek, Ga., where they lost sixty-two men out of the regiment in about one hour. This was on July 20, 1864. On August 1st they went into the trenches in front of Atlanta, where they remained till the 29th, when they made a grand retreat, falling back twelve miles across the Chattahoochee River, drawing the Confederates out of their works, while Sherman with the rest of the army played a flank move, compelling them to withdraw from the city. On September 2d the Twentieth Corps moved into the city. The 129th Illinois Regiment, being part of it, was under fire one hundred and twenty days. This ended the Atlanta Campaign. They then went into camp at the edge of the city, where they remained several weeks, and were then ordered to move, not knowing where they were going; but several days after starting they called on each company for a detail to forage, and it fell to his lot, with others, to fill the place. He continued in that position till they reached Savannah, Ga., when they each went to their companies while they remained at that place.

On December 25, 1864, they crossed the Savannah River into South Carolina, when they were ordered to assume the same duty (foraging). After encountering many skirmishes on their way north, upon reaching Bentonville, N. C., he, with others, was taken prisoner and sent to Richmond, Va., where they were confined in Libby Prison till the day before Grant took the place, when they were sent down the James River, landed between the picket lines, and let go to care for themselves. They went to the Union lines, from which they were sent to City Point, and on to Annapolis, Md., making the trip by water, and from there on to St. Louis, Mo., where they received furloughs for thirty days to go home, at the end of which time they returned to St. Louis, and were discharged May 30, 1865, and sent to Springfield, Ill., where he was mustered out of the United States service July 6, 1865.

RILLA (SUDERS) LOWER.

He then went to Dwight, Ill., where he remained a short time, when he went to Lanark, Ill., where his parents had moved during his absence, and went to work on the farm. He remained at home till the spring of 1868, when he and two sisters moved to Salem Township, where they kept house till the spring of 1870. On March 1, 1870, he married Neoma Snell. She was born February 3, 1850, at Bedford, Pa. She was a daughter of Jacob and Mary (Shafer) Snell. She died at the old home in Salem Township, near Lanark, Ill., May 30, 1895, where they had lived for twenty-five years. She was a member of the Christian Church. To them were born eight children, namely:

Elwood and Derwood (twins), born October 28, 1870; Elwood died November 11, 1870; Derwood died January 23, 1871.

Louzella, born January 11, 1872; died March 4, 1874.

GEORGE H. WEED.

THIRD GENERATION.

HANNAH LEAH LOWER, of David and Susan Lower, born near Williamsburg, Pa., January 1, 1850; married George Harvey Weed November 22, 1874; he was born in Whiteside County, Ill., May 9, 1849. Hannah Leah was the youngest of a family of ten children, all of whom were born on the same farm on Pincy Creek. In 1861 she, with her parents, three sisters and brother, Eli, moved to Dwight, Ill., where Abram, an older brother, already lived. In October, 1863, they, with two horses and a lumber wagon, drove to Lanark, Carroll County, Ill., locating on a farm of one hundred and sixty acres of prairie land. As this was during the Civil War, and men's help was scarce, she and her sister, Anna, with their father, did all the work necessary to make a home of this prairie land. In 1870 they moved into the town of Lanark, her father having built the brick house, now known as the "Lower Brick." There she was married to George Harvey Weed; there their three oldest boys were born; there, too, her father died, after an illness of eight years, during which time she, with her mother and husband, were his constant attendants. After his death, in 1881, the family, together with her mother, moved back to the farm, where their two youngest children were born, and where they live at this time.

George Harvey Weed was the eldest son of Charles and Louisa (Ritcherdson) Weed. He had two brothers, Charles Henry and Edmm Calvin. When but four years of age his mother died of cholera at St. Clare, Iowa, in 1855. He had very little school education, and his boyhood days were spent in the several States of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, New York and Illinois. He followed the butcher business in Lanark, Ill., for twelve years, has been Township Assessor ten years, besides many offices of trust in different fraternal and insurance organizations. He has always been a Republican in politics. He, with his wife, joined the English Lutheran Church of Lanark soon after their marriage, and have been blessed by seeing their children all brought into the same fold.

The Weed family dates back to 1560, and was originally French, named "De Grasse." But during the Huguenot persecution the family fled from France to Holland, and thence to England, and changed their name to Weed, so as to baffle their pursuers. Two brothers came from England in 1630. The Weed family have always distinguished themselves as doctors, missionaries, lawyers, divines, and last, but not least, soldiers. Brigadier-General Stephen H. Weed, mentioned in history, rose rapidly to fame during the Civil War. At the battle of Gettysburg, at Little Round Top, while leading his regiment almost to victory, he was killed by the Confederates. During all the long history of the Weed family there has never been mentioned a convicted criminal.

To them were born five children, as follows:

FOURTH GENERATION.

CHARLES LOWER WEED, eldest son of George H. and Hannah Leah (Lower) Weed, born at Lanark, Ill.,

September 10, 1875. He lived at Sunny Summit farm until March, 1902, at which time he formed a partnership with Jacob Grossman on the Norwood stock farm, near Lanark, raising and shipping pure-bred shorthorn cattle and Poland China swine. On March 25, 1903, he was married to Anna M. Sprecher, of Lanark, Ill. In December, 1906, his partner died, and in February, 1907, he purchased the entire business, and has lived on the Norwood stock farm, conducting the business, ever since. He is a graduate of the Lanark High School, and finds time, besides farming three hundred acres of land and conducting the stock business, to practice weekly with the Lanark band. He leads the church choir, also the church orchestra, playing first violin in same, and is what might truthfully be termed "a busy man."

ROBERT RICHARDSON WEED, of George H. and Hannah Leah (Lower) Weed, born at Lanark, Ill., May 8, 1877; was married to Maud Tallman April 17, 1905. She was a daughter of John and Sarah (Sarber) Tallman. They resided near Lanark, Ill., four years, when they moved to Sunny Side, Wash., where they now reside, and are engaged in the restaurant business. He also fills engagements with different musical organizations, being a slide trombonist.

JOHN LEO FLOYD WEED, of George H. and Hannah Leah (Lower) Weed, born at Lanark, Ill., November 16, 1878; married, February 20, 1909, to Hattie May Hanna, daughter of George and Rachel Hanna, of Milledgeville, Ill. Immediately after marriage they located at Sunny Side, Wash., where he had spent several years before, making ready a home for them, and where they now reside. He also has musical talent, and is connected with various musical organizations.

ZULU SUE WEED, only daughter of George H. and Hannah Leah (Lower) Weed, born August 22, 1882, on the old homestead near Lanark, Ill., now called "Sunny Summit Farm." She attended the Lanark High School, and is an accomplished musician. On November 22, 1904, she was married to Walter Corbet Hawbecker, of Chicago, Ill., who was the son of Samuel and Lucy (McAlester) Hawbecker, and was born twelve miles west of Hagerstown, Md., October 2, 1876. He served in the Spanish-American War. When first married they located in Oklahoma City, Okla.; from there they moved to Little Rock, Ark., where he is engaged in the fire insurance business.

FIFTH GENERATION.

GEORGE WEED HAWBECKER, son of Zulu Sue (Weed) and Walter C. Hawbecker, born at Oklahoma City, Okla., December 16, 1906.

WALTER CORBET HAWBECKER, JR., son of Zulu Sue (Weed) and Walter C. Hawbecker, born at Little Rock, Ark., January 12, 1909.

FOURTH GENERATION.

RUSSELL DAVID WEED, youngest child of George H. and Hannah Leah (Lower) Weed, born at Sunny Summit farm, Lanark, Ill., July 19, 1894. He is living with his parents and attending the Lanark High School.

HOME OF DAVID AND SUSAN (RHODES) LOWER, IN LANARK, ILL.

APPENDIX.

This part of the history and genealogy is of another family of the same name, LOWER, and I am requested by the brothers at Hot Springs, Ark., to incorporate their history in this book, so that it may be preserved. I am reasonably certain that they are descendants of Adam Lower, of Williamsburg, Pa., and I earnestly hope that some member of each branch will continue this investigation and make a more careful and extended search than I have been able to make. It is a source of great regret to me that I am unable to find these missing links.

JOHN STRANGE LOWER was born April 30, 1813, at either Wilkesbarre or Philadelphia, Pa. His parents came from Germany, his father's first name being Jacob, his wife's Nancy. Jacob Lower died at Noblesville, Ind., in 1853, at the age of eighty-six years. Nancy Lower died at the age of seventy-four at the home of her son, Jacob, in Iowa, on May 28, 1863. The descendants understand that John Strange Lower's grandfather's name was Adam, and was one of five brothers who came to America from Germany. He (John Strange Lower) first married Mary Hamilton, April 4, 1833, who died April 28, 1848, at Indianapolis, Ind. There were two children by this marriage, Hannah J. Lower, born June 4, 1835, and William Hamilton Lower, born May 29, 1838. Both these children are dead, and have been for some years. He next married Mrs. Sabina J. Roberts, a widow, whose maiden name was Sabina J. Dunlap, at Shreveport, La., on June 2, 1848. From this marriage the following children were born:

Albert Lower, at Noblesville, Ind., July 31, 1849.

George H. Lower, at Cincinnati, O., September 18, 1851.

Charles S. Lower, at Jacksonville, Ill., October 3, 1854.

Edward P. Lower, at Logansport, Ind., February 23, 1857.

Robert H. Lower, at Cairo, Ill., August 4, 1861.

Harry R. and Frank, at Evansville, Ind., October 24, 1864.

Two of the above are now dead (1911) as follows:

Albert, who was murdered by burglars while defending the family property at Columbus, Ky., August 10, 1882. Frank, twin brother of Harry R., at Evansville, Ind., at the age of seven months.

George, Charles and Robert reside at present at Hot Springs, Ark. Harry lives at Cairo, Ill., and Edward at Anadarko, Okla.

ALBERT LOWER and Emma Lancashire were married at Columbus, Ky., on August 29, 1873, and were blessed with two children, May, born at Columbus, Ky., June 2, 1874, and Frank, born at Vicksburg, Miss., September 1, 1879. Both are married and have families. Frank is living at Baton Rouge, La., and May in New Orleans, La.

GEORGE H. LOWER and Ada Mary Brooks, daughter of Dr. John Beaty Brooks and wife, Eva, were married at Hot Springs, Ark., October 22, 1889. Ada Mary Brooks was born at Geneseo, Ill., December 10, 1871. She was the youngest daughter of Dr. Brooks, the eldest being Mrs. Zillah Gordon, wife of William L. Gordon, now residents of Asbury Park, N. J. Of the marriage, two children were born to George H. Lower and wife, Ada, as follows: Eva Brooks Lower, at Hot Springs, Ark., November 17, 1892, and Jane Dunlap Lower, at Hot Springs, Ark., November 15, 1900. Jane Dunlap Lower died at Hot Springs, Ark., on March 18, 1906.

CHARLES S. LOWER and Sue L. Turner were married at St. Francis, Ark., October 1, 1884. Of this marriage were the following children:

Ethel Lower, born at St. Francis, Ark., January 29, 1886.

Harry Lower, born at Chidester, Ark., October 12, 1887.

Madge Lower, born at Chidester, Ark., July 9, 1889.

Robert Lower, born at Hunter, Okla., August 3, 1899.

George Lower, born at Hunter, Okla., December 26, 1901.

All are alive except Ethel, the first-born, who died at Columbus, Ky., October 1, 1886.

EDWARD P. LOWER and Josephine Marsh were married at Greeneville, Miss., April 27, 1880. From this marriage one child was born, Jessie, who died later, and was soon followed to the grave by her mother. Subsequently, on March 9, 1887, Edward married Faulkner Howell, at Wickliffe, Ky., from which marriage there was a son, Creech, born at Hennessey, Okla., August 20, 1890, and a daughter, Lorine, born at Wickliffe, Ky., February 2, 1888, and died May 1, 1889. ,

ROBERT H. LOWER and Alice Wilder were married at Columbus, Ky., October 16, 1885. One child was born, a son, whom they named Albert, after his uncle, Albert, who was murdered prior to his birth. He is still living with his father in Hot Springs, Ark. Alice Lower died at Hot Springs, Ark., on October 31, 1888. Subsequently Robert H. Lower married Nettie Cummins at Hot Springs, Ark., November 17, 1891, from which marriage there are two children, as follows: Aline, born at Hot Springs, Ark., May 8, 1893, and Francis, born at Hot Springs, Ark., May 4, 1903.

HARRY R. LOWER and Agnes Hires were married at Clinton, Ky., May 25, 1887. Of this marriage there is one son, Roy, who was born at Columbus, Ky., August 17, 1892.

Detailing his early family recollections, George H. Lower, the eldest of the living brothers of this branch of the family, says: "I distinctly remember that neither grandfather nor grandmother could speak plain English. From conversations I overheard between my parents, the impression was created upon my mind that my great-great-grandfather's name was Adam. My father, John Strange Lower, worked in a tailor shop in Philadelphia when a young man, and before his marriage to my mother. Afterward he graduated in medicine at the Ohio State Medical College at Cincinnati, and devoted the rest of his life to the practice of that profession. During the Civil War he was employed in the service of the United States Government as assistant surgeon of the post at Cairo, Ill. He frequently filled the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church in that city. He and all of his family were members of that denomination as far back as can be traced. The fact of the marriage of my parents occurring at Shreveport, La., on June 2, 1848, indicates that soon after father graduated in medicine he removed South, returning North subsequently, and then going to Shreveport still later, as I find the family, which at that time consisted of father, mother, Hannah, William, Albert and myself, the first two-named children being from father's first marriage and our step-sister and step-brother, were compelled to join in the general flight from Shreveport by the epidemic of cholera in 1854, going back to Cincinnati, O. Father was the only physician aboard the steamboat making the trip from the little Louisiana town up the Mississippi and Ohio rivers to a safer locality. From stories related often in years after by father and mother, he saved the lives of every one of the several hundred passengers and members of the crew on board. He would stand the passengers and crew up in a line down the cabin of the steamer at stated intervals throughout the day and night and administer to them his cholera remedy, a copy of which we still have, written in his own hand. At this time we must have gone, early after our arrival at Cincinnati, to Jacksonville, Ill., where Charles was born in 1854; then to Logansport, Ind., where Edward was born in 1857; from there to Warsaw, Ind.; thence to Cape Girardeau, Mo., where we remained until the outbreak of the war, when we removed to Cairo, Ill., where Robert was born in 1860. From there we removed to Evansville, Ind., where the schools were excellent, and it being the desire of our parents to give their children the benefit of the best schools. Here the twin brothers, Harry and Frank, were born in 1864, the latter dying seven months later. After three years' residence at Evansville, we removed to Keokuk, Iowa, where there were splendid educational facilities. Here we remained a year or more, removing to Quincy, Ill., thence to St. Louis, and returning from there to Cairo, Ill., in 1867, where father contracted dysentery, and died December 11, 1867, his remains being interred at Oak Hill Cemetery, Evansville, Ind. Mother and the children then removed to Columbus, Ky., nineteen miles south of Cairo, on the Mississippi River, where later mother died in 1870, her remains being taken to Evansville and laid to rest beside those of father and brother Frank.

"My recollection is that father had three brothers. William is thought to have been captured and massacred by Indians at the famous Mountain Meadow massacre in 1857 while crossing the plains with his family to Oregon. Nehemiah died a federal prisoner at Andersonville prison during the Civil War. Jacob died at the home of a son in Iowa. Father evidently had at least two sisters, Sarah and Lucinda, both of whom are dead, the former dying at Des Moines, Iowa, and the latter at Anderson, Ind. I am satisfied father had other brothers and sisters. A few years ago one, Mrs. Reynolds, was living at Des Moines, Iowa, at the ripe old age of ninety years. When but a small child I distinctly remember seeing grandfather and grandmother. This must have been at Noblesville, Ind., at a time when we were removing from that place to Jacksonville, Ill., and when we were bidding them a last farewell at the little railway station I can distinctly remember, young as I was."

JACOB LOWER, of Jacob and Nancy Lower, married in Indiana, and here were born to them six children, namely: Asbury C., Emery W., Melvil W., Mary I., Nancy A., and Olive E.

ASBURY C. LOWER lives at Herrington, Kan. He is Police Judge, Justice of the Peace, and a Notary Public.

EMERY W. LOWER died in the service during the Civil War.

MELVIL LOWER died when quite young near Wine-mac, the county seat of Pulaski County, Ind.

MARY I. LOWER married Robert Templeton, and died at Osage City, Kan., June 2, 1909.

NANCY A. LOWER married, and lives at this time (1912) in Osage City, Kan.

OLIVE E. LOWER married, and lives near Richland, Keokuk County, Iowa.
